

Justin Haigh - People Like Me

Tuesday, June 07 2011 @ 02:56 PM EDT

Contributed by: ACstaff

By Michael A - AngryCountry Senior Staff Writer
Justin Haigh - People Like Me

Drinking, Waylon and Jail... does it get much more country than that? Justin Haigh gives the listener all that and more. With vocals that remind me of a young Tracey Lawrence, and a devotion to all things country that brings Craig Morgan to mind Haigh delivers a thoroughly country album for traditionalists and new country fans alike. A true toe-tapping pleasure of a disc.

"In Jail" is easily my favorite song of the album, telling the story of what love can make you do. A funny cautionary tale.

The title track "People Like Me" is a up-tempo blast about knowing who you are and not caring what others think about it. It's about everything country and people like YOU.

"The Leaving In Your Eyes" presents a sad melody in a beautiful tune reminiscent of Hank Williams.

Overall a great album. Should do well at country radio, in the clubs and on your ipod!

Buy The Album: <http://www.amazon.com/exec/obidos/ASI...admedia-20>

Online: <http://justinhaigh.com/>